COMMUNITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Helping Kids Navigate the World of Artificial Intelligence

With Artificial Intelligence (AI) being so new, adults are grappling with the best use of this new technology. How do we coach our children on the appropriate way to use it and understand the pitfalls? Common Sense Media has published a guide to help us do just that. In this article you'll learn about the benefits and risks, the biases, plagiarism and cheating, as well as encouragement for trying out the tools together with your children. Due to the age restrictions on the various AI tools, we have blocked them for ASA student accounts, just as we do with any online resource that has an age requirement of 13+ and older.
